Street Railway Union Declares Itself Opposed to Drastic Measures.

Shorter Hours Is What They Want and Peaceable Means Only Will Be Pursued.

As a result of the day and night meeting of the Street Railway Protective Union the men decided by a practically unanimous vote that a ten-hour day could eventually be secured without resorting to drastic measures, and the executive committee was re-invested with authority to continue such negotiations looking to the end as in their judgment seemed best.

President Lawrence, of the union, vesterday called upon President Phillips and informed him that the non were anxious to secure a reduction of another hour and that they were satisfied that, in the course of time, the president would accede to their request if peaceably preferred, and therefore that all talk of coercion was entirely unfounded.

In the meantime for a period of sixty days the employes will continue to work eleven hours a day for the pay they at present receive, and the "swing-men" will have the benefit of a corresponding concess ion, being given nine hours in their first President Phillips was not present at the meeting, as had been expected, but sent a letter stating that other engageended by saying that he had adopted a reso lution in matters of this sort not to state his views verbaily, and that, therefore, for fear of being misunderstood or mis represented he would not appear in person Anything he had to communicate to the union would be sent in writing.

The Metropolitan employes are to-day congratulating each other on the partia victory won, and express the belief that it will be a comparatively easy matter to obtain the reduction of another hour. Mr. Dent, representing the Ninth stree men, stated that since Mr. Elliott had beer put back on his car and the present ar rangements entered into there had been no cause for complaint, and the men will rigidly adhere to the sixty days' truce.

STORM AT ANNAPOLIS.

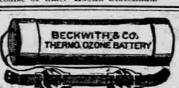

Enroofed, Boats Capsized and One Person Drowned.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 20.-A severe rain and wind storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning, struck Annapolis yesterday afternoon, doing considerable damage. The heavy northwest wind ripped up the tin roof on the three-story brick house occu-pied by Dr. E. P. Daval, on West street, tearing off the sheathing like paper.

This property was visited by a similar experience some years ago. The chimney of the house fell against the back building of the house fell against the back banding of the residence of Mrs. Gassaway, adjoin-ing, doing some damage. One of the large windows of Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, on West street, was blown out, nd a large tree on the property of J. H. Vansant, near the church, was uprooted On the same street damage was done a fa-vorite tree in front of the residence of James M. Munroe. Down town awaings were torn and shipping was interfered with. A boat capsized at Dubois' wharf and the sails of several vessels in the har-bor were torn by the gale. The storm was anticipated, and man y of the smaller oyster boats had returned to the harobr.

A bateau containing Gilbert Brasbear and Daniel Brown, both colored, capsized in Back Creek, near Eastport. Brown who was eighteen years old, was drawned. He was a son of Isaiah Brown, of East-port. A boat belonging to Elliott Brashears also capsized, but the crew reached shore in safety.
